jayqueenofhugs asked:

I'll be honest, I really don't know HOW to summarize the MCSR mural experience other than attacking a Warrior Cats mural, Feinberg getting into a call with the Warrior Cats representative, an alliance forming, the alliance declaring war on a Russian streamer with 14k viewers (and winning, btw), and the Warrior Cats community offering to... help us attack NATO right above us if we wanted more space to make more faces riacte answered:

VAGDJSJDJSH FEINBERG o7 THIS IS SO FUNNY HELP. Mad respect abdhwhdjajs your streamer is leading the battle <3 our streamer places blushes on the man he did vaguely homoerotic roleplay with <3 love wins!!

“The Warrior Cats community offering to help us attack NATO right above us if we wanted more space to make more faces” I love Reddit Geopolitics. Imagine if this was what we saw on the news everyday.

Good luck to MCSR! Idk how on board HC is with “invading” because we were (are) screaming at our rogues to NOT INVADE but we WILL support MCSR!

This is an roller coaster ride. This is a marathon. I am

---

zero-cycle

Apr 4, 2022

To continue with the absolute madness that was this saga:

It started out innocently enough with the Warrior Cats alliance (which was its own set of shenanigans but I genuinely don't think I have the words to explain what the experience of listening to Fein's stream at that moment was). We take over, fight the anime people for a bit and then help out the Warrior Cats people. Everything is well.

MCSR is building the current main category World Record holders at the moment. We're vibing. And then suddenly - five minutes late because everyone is too busy with r/place - the pace ping comes in. 1.15 WR got broken while everyone was fighting for their pixels. So promptly everyone scrambles to replace the face of the former WR holder with the new one (sorry, Doug!).

Feinberg gets off after helping with the beautiful Netherscape we built. IMMEDIATELY, Sapnap threatens to wipe us all out to put Foolish's butt there, but thankfully chat fights him for us and the dsmp streamers move on to a different part of the canvas.

We think we have peace for a bit. Promptly, Ludwig shows up and starts staring at our area. Everyone freaks out like crazy but as it turns out, Ludwig is the unlikely saviour. He wipes out the spain-french war that was going on directly below us and puts a mural of Iroh there (we do not talk about what was the first idea) and also protects our little corner from XQC.

Right now, we're vibing after surviving the night, even though random people keep trying to either eboy-ify or frenchify our streamers. If you wanna help out, coords are 1436 1436, we'd appreciate anyone who wants to place some pixels.

#r/place mcsr saga my beloved #i've never been so incested in something